In a pop-up social museum, Adelaide-bred, Melbourne-fled curator Tahney Fosdike scrutinises Adelaide's brain drain. Presenting an idiosyncratic assemblage of visual art, video, creative writing and historical archives, the museum considers the forces behind people leaving Adelaide to pursue a new life in Melbourne and never looking back. Is the grass greener on the other side?

Featuring John Frith, Jenny Allnut, Grace Harper, Julia Derwas, Chelsea Birrane, Alexandra Dobson, Will Preece, Amalia Krueger and Angus Hamra.

With special thanks to Adelaide Fringe, Jeffrey Frith, University of Melbourne Archives, State Library of South Australia, National Library of Australia, History Trust of South Australia and the Lion Hotel.
